Complications Arise In Moving A House

Moving a house from Mokena to Normandy Lane, which is outside the village limits, has resulted in complications.

Seven residents along the street, which runs south of Francis Rd. to the Rock Island tracks, filed objections with the county building commission with the result that the permit for establishment of the house at its new location has been held up, pending outcome of a hearing by the commission on Sept. 18, at the Will county courthouse.

The house is owned by Mrs. William Hecht, 191st St., and was formerly the property of her father, the late Daniel Lauffer. It was originally built at the southwest corner of First and Mokena Sts. It is a two-story structure, containing nine rooms.

Some two weeks ago Mrs. Hecht obtained a permit from the county building commission, she said, to move the house to foundations she had prepared for it at the south end of Normandy Lane.

On Sept. 4 the moving operation began. Telephone and power company crews cut wires along the route and repaired them when the house was clear. At this point Mrs. Hecht said she had $2,500 invested in moving the house plus about $1,400 for the work by the power and phone company crews. And it was then, she said, that she was notified that her permit was being held up and that she could not have the house placed on the foundations prepared for it.

The house is now standing, temporarily, on a nearby lot.

Mrs. Hecht said that she plans to put new siding on the house, install a new heating plant, and redecorate.

As far as can be learned the objectors don't want a two-story house in the block where the other dwellings now existing are one-stories.

There is no zoning question involved, it was said.

Quote Sidewalk Price At 50¢ A Square Foot

Property owners along Mokena's Front St., from Division St. to School House Rd., have received notice from the village board that they are to install new sidewalks.

The street is being widened and there will be curbs and gutters laid. The renovation of the street is being financed thru motor fuel tax money from the county and village. The sidewalks are to be paid for by the property owners involved.

By making use of a contractor who is prepared to build all of the sidewalks the price will be 50 cents per square foot, property owners are informed. It would cost much more, it was said, if the work were done piecemeal and by various contractors.

The village engineer has drawn up specifications for the walk, covering all phases of construction. The sidewalk is to be four feet wide and five inches thick.

Persons may pay the entire bill or can pay over a period of five years with five equal installments, plus 6 per cent interest. "The first installment shall be due and payable on the second day of January, next after the date of the first voucher issued on account of the work done," according to the ordinance.

The ordinance also provides means to obtain judgments against those property owners who are delinquent in their payments.

Nov. 5 Date Of Vote On Nursing Home Bond Issue

A $2,200,000 bond issue to finance the building of a new county nursing home on Ella Av., Joliet, will be voted on by Will County electors at the regular election Nov. 5.

A resolution calling for the bond issue and setting the date for the referendum was adopted by the Will County board of supervisors at a special session conducted last week.

The proposed nursing home would provide 150 beds and Richard Tezak, assistant Joliet supervisor, an ardent supporter of the nursing home program, emphasized that "such a facility is sorely needed for our senior citizens."

The resolution specifies that the tax to retire the proposed bond issue is not to exceed three cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation.

The bonds, according to the schedule of payments, would be retired in 15 years.

The bonds would be dated Dec. 1, 1968 with payments due Jan. 1 of each year, beginning with $80,000 in 1971; $100,000 in 1972 thru 1974; $130,000 in 1975 thru 1977; $160,000 in 1978 thru 1980; $190,000 in 1981 thru 1985. Under the payment schedule the tax would be levied from 1968 thru 1983, a 15-year span.

"We need your continued cooperation in order to sell the proposal to the public," Tezak told his fellow supervisors.

A steering committee with 25 to 30 members is to be set up, he said, to promote a favorable vote. To carry only a simple majority of the votes cast on the bond issue is necessary, he pointed out.

Tezak stressed that tax money will not be used in the campaign. Instead the steering committee will seek public contributions to meet the cost of preparing a brochure explaining the issue, and to maintain a headquarters between now and election.

Donald Forsythe, supervisor of Florence Township and a member of the nursing home committee, said that as far as he can recall this is the first time the county board has taken such an issue to the public.

"It is something for everybody in the county," Forsythe said, "and is very much needed." He, too, appealed for help in getting the story to the public.

Hospital and nursing home fees are mounting steadily, it was pointed out, and hospitals are reported to be getting rid of the chronically ill as rapidly as possible, shunting them into nursing homes. Nursing homes in the area are reported to be crowded and there is need for more such beds.

The present county nursing facilities are reported filled and there is a long waiting list.

Police Stage Hunt For Missing Mokenan

Mokena police, with the assistance of police from Frankfort and New Lenox are looking for Stephen Keleman, 65, who has been reported missing since Friday.

As of Tuesday noon no trace of the man had been found, it was reported, and authorities are considering the possibility of accident or foul play.

His bicycle, the handlebars twisted, and a wooden suitcase, somewhat damaged, was found along the shoulder of Wolf Rd. near Hickory Creek just south of Mokena, it was reported.

Keleman resides with a sister, a Mrs. McGuire, on Revere Rd., Mokena. According to the report she has not seen her brother since last Friday morning (Sept. 6). He had spoken, according to the report, of going to look into a caretaker job.

Firemen have also been called into the search. If Keleman were injured, it was reasoned, he may have wandered into the fields or woods.

Trees Have Big Part In Soil Conservation

A big question facing many landowners today is, "What's the most profitable crop my land will grow, cultivated crops, pasture crops, or timber crops?" Often, land not suited for cultivation is ideal for growing trees. Trees permanently protect such lands from erosion and help to conserve water. Trees also add beauty and value to property as well as provide a good home for wildlife.
A basic part of woodland management is a soil and water conservation plan. The Will-South Cook Soil Conservation Service field technicians Allen May and Warren Townsend, help landowners select the best sites for tree planting, thru the use of soil surveys and soil maps. The technicians provide the information as to what kind of trees to plant on various soils and how fast the trees will grow. They can help establish woodlands as a part of total soil and water conservation plans.

Information is also available from Soil Conservation Service on windbreaks. Windbreaks do more than protect roadsides. They help stop erosion and conserve water. They provide food and cover for wildlife. In addition, trees provide an excellent area for hunting or just watching wildlife.

Some 23,000 trees were planted in the Will-South Cook Soil and Water Conservation District last year. The District is taking orders now for tree-planting stock to be planted next spring. Place your order today by calling 723-5078 or stopping in at the Conservation office, 100 Manhattan Road in Joliet.

Dear friends,

Do not fail to investigate Social Security benefits. For example, if the deceased is covered by Social Security, a lump sum death benefit, varying from $132 to $255 is payable to the surviving husband or wife, if a member of the same household. Otherwise, this death benefit can be applied to the funeral expenses.

Respectfully,

Rock-and-Roll, A 'Deafening' Beat

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

One of the members of a Houston rock-and-roll combo who has developed irreversible hearing loss at age 17 due to the earsplitting music he plays, is quoted as saying:

"We'll probably go ahead and do what we're doing now . . . it gets in your blood . . . we wouldn't know what else to do . . . besides we've got so much money tied up . . .

we'll all just have to wear hearing aids in about 10 years."

He, and other rock-and-roll musicians, are in for several unpleasant surprises. Dr. Aram Glorig, the man who has made the most hearing measurements in this country and who is director of the Callier Hearing and Speech Center at Dallas, says:

"I've measured the noise of combo sessions several times. The level is high

"Sound piles up rapidly to confuse the wearer until he can no longer discriminate between sounds. Thus, he becomes incapable of understanding even warnings of danger."

About 50 per cent of the population is extremely sensitive to noise above 80 decibels, which is the top level of the normal hearing range. Rock - and - roll measures 120 decibels at six feet.

Dr. Ruggles is worried about the increasing numbers of youngsters brought to him with impaired hearing due to fireworks, guns, especially cap guns, and certainly rock and-roll.

New Use for Muscle Power

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

Doctors and engineers have gotten together to work on the problem of replacing the functions of lost limbs. Artificial limbs are not really new, but using electricity from muscles to work them by surely is!

You may know that muscle cells give off tiny electrical signals. Modern electronic devices make it possible to amplify those signals to the point where they can be used to control a motor.

Suppose a man has lost a hand in an accident. Wires can be attached to the muscles in his upper arm or his shoulder and then connected to a lightweight motor strapped to his lower arm, above his artificial hand.

When the man tenses certain muscles, the wires send amplified signals from those muscles to the motor which, in turn, makes the hand move in a particular way. Different muscles can be trained to control different actions of the hand.

There are still some difficulties to overcome. The electronic equipment itself must be very light in weight, durable and sophisticated.

Picking up the muscle signals is tricky because whenever a muscle is tensed there is always a set of opposing muscles that also gets into the act.

Sorting out the right set of signals is not easy. Furthermore the electrodes attached to the skin have to ignore skin changes that are the natural result of emotional changes, changing seasons, and other factors.

Despite these problems, scientists have great hopes for this new use of muscle power.

Unscramble the 11 words in the circles. Write the first letter of each word in the appropriate box and you will spell the name of the scientific specialty concerned with replacing missing limbs.

ANSWERS: 1. power, 2. replace, 3. other, 4. scientist, 5. tricky, 6. health, 7. electronic, 8. tense, 9. ignore, 10. control, 11. signal.

SHY GORILLAS?

Despite their fierce appearance, gorillas are shy, friendly animals that seem to need companionship and attention. The first gorillas kept in zoos did not live long, and some people believe they died of loneliness. In their native habitat they live in groups of from two to 30.

Laser 'Hits' Satellite

by Joe Costa

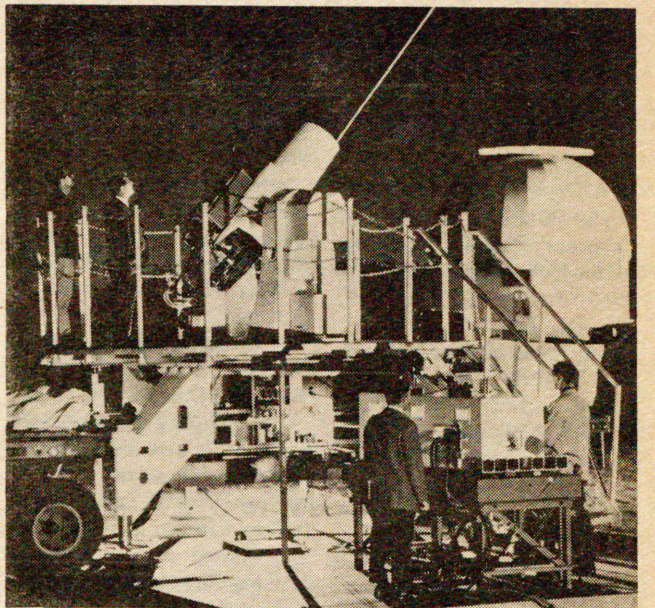

Engineers of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., operate this continuous argon laser in experiments to send messages by laser to a satellite in orbit.

They have been able to hit the Explorer XXXVI orbiting the Earth between a low of 671 and a high of 976 miles in attempts to send readable messages to the satellite for transmission back to an Earth ground station by radio.

The laser, a highly focused light beam of great intensity, is sensitive to atmospheric conditions. A readable signal is affected by clouds, water droplets, dust and other particles.

Lasers have many uses in industry and medicine. In communications, a laser beam can transmit voice messages and TV signals.

LWV PLUMPS FOR EQUAL HOUSING

At the national convention the League of Women Voters adopted a support position for equality of opportunity for housing. This means that the League supports the right of all persons to buy or rent dwellings regardless of race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

At the September meetings national, state and local legislation concerning housing will be reviewed. Discussion of the present and needed legislation will be held in the light of the Kerner report and other research material appraising present housing policies. The League will discuss the fair-housing issue as it affects our community both locally and nationally.

A tape recording of a speech made to the national convention by Whitney Young, Jr., executive director of the Urban League will be played to the members. The tape is entitled "The Current Dilemma: Challenge and Opportunity".

Item chairman is Mrs.

Raymond Justice of Palos Park.

Unit meetings will be Monday, Sept. 16, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Harriet Jensen, 11729 S. 83rd Ave., Palos Park, and Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Judy Justice, 8313 W. 126th St., Palos Park. All women are invited to attend.

Mental Health Center Seeking Volunteers

Volunteer Services at the Tinley Park Mental Health Center is sponsoring two special recruitment teas at the center, Monday, Sept. 16, in the employee building lounge. An afternoon tea at 2:00 p.m. and an evening tea at 8:00 p.m. will give an opportunity for south suburban area persons to learn about the many kinds of service volunteers can contribute.

A recent expansion in the territory served by Tinley Park has vastly increased the need for mental health volunteers at the center and in related community activities. In addition, Will and Grundy counties will be served by Tinley Park Mental Health Center starting in October and volunteers from those areas are needed too.

"Though a particular talent or skill may be useful," says Volunteer Services Coordinator Hazel Blumenthal, "the basic requirement is a liking for people and a desire to be helpful. This may consist of nothing more than to engage in normal small talk with a lonely patient or, by lending a sympathetic ear to show that people in the community are concerned about another's welfare."

An explanation of the volunteer program will be given at each tea and professional staff of the center will be present to answer questions and to talk informally with potential volunteers. Most patients now at the center have been hospitalized for only a short time and have expectations of early return to their homes and jobs.

Tinley Park volunteers may select such tasks as visiting former patients in nursing homes or participating in the Open Door Social in Posen. Thru a cooperative arrangement with the Rosel and Mental Health Center, some volunteers may establish regular contact on a one-to-one basis with com-

University Women Seek Members

The American Association of University Women is launching its 1968-69 membership campaign this month, according to Mrs. Eugene Malone, membership chairman.

Members of AAUW enjoy a stimulating association with other graduates, hear programs on vital and interesting topics, and have an opportunity to participate in small study groups.

College or university graduates wishing to know more about AAUW are invited to attend the annual membership picnic, Tues., Sept. 24th, at 6:00 p.m. at the Inwood Recreation Center in Joliet. One may call Mrs. Eugene Malone, 726-5976 for additional information and reservations.

The 1968-69 AAUW officers are Mrs. Charles Timm, president; Mrs. Earl Wardrum, first vice-president; Mrs. John Mead, second vice-president; Mrs. Eugene Malone, third vice-president; Miss Louise Delano, secretary; and Mrs. Frank Crotty, treasurer.

munity patients no longer hospitalized. Service of this sort can be arranged near the homes of volunteers by preference or if transportation to Tinley Park would be a problem.

Volunteer assignments are also available within the center in the adult psychiatric program, the medical - surgical hospital, and in the children's service.

Volunteers may serve any day of the week, either days or evenings.

Tea reservations should be made by calling the Volunteer Services office, 532-8800, extension 400. The office can also furnish other information regarding volunteer work. Organizations interested in group service are invited to have a representative attend.

An orientation program for new volunteers will be given in October so that volunteers can be given assignments immediately thereafter.

(Next time, get draft-free, even, electric heat.)

There's something you really ought to know about flame heating systems: they cause drafts.

Air is consumed in the burning process. So, a draft is created that draws in dirty, cold air from outside.

Electric heat won't do that. Because there's no flame.

Which is why electric heat, and only electric heat, can promise you even, controlled heat that's free from drafts. So if you get that chilly, creepy feeling around your ankles on days when it's cold outside—well, we cannot tell a lie.

Your flame-system did it.
